MD & CEO's Message

Dear Colleagues,

I wish you and your families a very Happy New Year. I hope 2026 brings good health, happiness, and fulfilment to each one of you.

As I look back at the year gone by, I feel a deep sense of pride in what we have achieved together. 2025 was a year of meaningful progress for Fortis, a year in which we strengthened our foundations, expanded our presence, and delivered a strong all-round performance across the organisation.

We expanded our footprint with the addition of a new hospital in Jalandhar, and initiated Operations & Maintenance engagements with five Gleneagles facilities, further deepening our network and reach. Alongside this, we continued to augment bed capacity across our hospitals, with more additions planned in the coming months to support our growth ambitions.

Equally important, we remained steadfast in our commitment to world-class, patient-centric care. Throughout the year, we invested in advanced medical technologies and clinical capabilities, enabling our teams to deliver higher standards of care and better outcomes for our patients.

All of this has positioned us well as we step into 2026 - as a stronger, more resilient, and future-ready organisation.

I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank our Doctors, Nurses, Paramedics, and administrative colleagues across the Fortis network. Your dedication, compassion, and unwavering commitment to patient care are the true pillars of our success. It is your work, often under demanding circumstances, that defines who we are as an organisation.

As we welcome the New Year, let us renew our collective commitment to our shared vision, to be the most trusted and preferred healthcare destination for patients and their families. Together, let us continue to raise the bar in clinical excellence, service quality, and compassionate care.

I wish you and your loved ones a very happy, healthy, and successful New Year once again.

Warm regards,

Dr A. Raghuvanshi
MD & CEO

As a centre deeply rooted in diabetes management and education for decades, the hospital leveraged its clinical expertise and community trust to drive widespread awareness and early detection efforts this year. The campaign commenced with an engaging BIG FM LIVE interaction featuring RJ Vrajesh Hirjee and an eminent panel of clinicians, including Dr Anil Bhoraskar, Dr P. G. On-ground activation was equally robust. A mega free diabetes screening camp held on the hospital premises provided essential tests and personalised clinical counselling to over 150 individuals, reinforcing the hospital's commitment to early detection. To extend the message beyond the hospital walls, a seven-day influencer collaboration with Harsh Kedia, the 'diabetic chef', who has lived with diabetes since age 14, played a pivotal role. He curated a special diabetes-friendly recipe booklet, which was distributed through Mumbai's iconic dabbawalas, enabling the message of 'Diabetes Ko Blue Banayein' to reach more than 15,000 Mumbaikars in workplaces and homes across the city. Meet Our Clinician

Dr. Puskar Shyam Chowdhury
 Director, Urology
 Fortis Hospital & Kidney Institute, Kolkata

Since how long have you been with Fortis?

I have been associated with Fortis for the past 14 years, where I have had the privilege of utilizing state-of-the-art robotic and laparoscopic infrastructure to provide world-class urological care to our patients.

Since you mentioned Robotic and Laparoscopic surgery, we would like to know how these new technologies have improved patient care.

The adoption of robotic-assisted surgery has been a game-changer. I recently used robotic precision to perform a partial nephrectomy on a patient with a very awkwardly positioned tumour. The 3D visualization allowed me to save the healthy part of the kidney which, with traditional open surgery, might have been lost. Additionally, using digital metabolic charting helps me track and prevent recurrent stone formation in my patients more accurately than ever before.

Can you share a memorable patient story that had a profound effect on your life?

Early in my transition into Uro-Oncology, I treated a 45-year-old man with a high-risk, localized muscle-invasive bladder cancer. He was terrified of losing his quality of life. We performed a Radical Cystectomy with an orthotopic neobladder reconstruction—essentially creating a new bladder from his own intestines. Seeing him return to his job and active life a year later, cancer-free and with full continence, was a defining moment for me. It reinforced that in oncology, our goal isn't just to add years to life, but to add 'life to years.' It taught me the importance of mastering complex reconstructive techniques to ensure that surviving cancer doesn't mean sacrificing dignity."

Has being a doctor influenced your perspective on health practices in your personal life?

Absolutely. Seeing the long-term complications of lifestyle diseases like diabetes and hypertension on kidney health has made me a staunch advocate for preventive care. I am much more conscious of my own hydration, diet, exercise and stress management because I see the "end result" of neglect every day in the clinic.

How do you manage the emotional challenges of a high-stress medical environment?

I rely on a combination of clinical detachment during the procedure to ensure precision, followed by reflection. I find that discussing difficult cases with my peers helps process the "near misses" or the losses. Acceptance that we are instruments of healing, not Gods, is vital for emotional longevity.

How do you unwind?

I am an avid photographer. Engaging in activities that require a different kind of focus helps clear my mind and prevents burnout, allowing me to return to the hospital with a fresh perspective.

Meet Our Nurse

Anureet Kaur Mehra
Infection Prevention Control Nurse
 Fortis Hospital, Ludhiana

How has been your journey working at Fortis?

My journey at Fortis has been highly rewarding. The hospital provides an environment that encourages professional growth, collaboration, and continuous learning. I have had opportunities to implement infection control programs, mentor junior staff, and participate in research initiatives. I am also honored to have received the Nightingale Award, which has been a great recognition of my dedication and contributions. The supportive culture at Fortis has allowed me to expand my skills while contributing meaningfully to patient safety and care standards.

What inspired you to pursue your career in nursing and how it has shaped your professional and personal life?

I was inspired to pursue nursing because I have always felt a strong calling to care for others and make a meaningful difference in people's lives. Choosing this career has shaped me both professionally and personally, inculcate values like empathy, patience, and resilience. It has taught me to stay calm under pressure, approach challenges systematically, and maintain a strong sense of responsibility toward the well-being of patients and the community.

How do you manage a healthy work-life balance as a nurse?

Work-life balance is really important to me, especially in infection control where things can get intense. I try to manage my time well and stay organized during my shift so I can finish tasks efficiently and avoid unnecessary stress. Once I'm off work, I make it a priority to spend quality time with my family—whether that's having dinner together, going for a walk, or just relaxing and catching up. When I'm balanced and rested, I'm able to give my best at work and at home.

What steps do you take to stay updated on the advancements and evidence-based practices in nursing?

I regularly attend workshops, webinars, and conferences related to infection control and nursing practices. I also subscribe to professional journals, follow updates from organizations like WHO and CDC, and participate in hospital-led training sessions. This continuous learning ensures I apply the most current evidence-based practices to maintain patient safety and quality care.

Tell us a bit about your family.

I live in joint family. My household includes my in-laws, my husband, and our 7-year-old daughter. Living in a joint family provides a strong support system, which is invaluable given the demands of my profession as a nurse. I truly value the sense of togetherness and stability that my family offers.
